Cheers for Tonight

Though only a few students realize it, tonight will be a historic occasion: the first McGill-sponsored large-scale concert series will be formally opened by the Dean of Music, Dr. Douglas Clarke, and the concert will feature the dramatic and brilliant young soprano, Regina Resnik.

We have been looking forward to this evening for a long time, and we can hardly express in a few words the gratitude which we think McGill owes to the excellent committee who have labored to hard to make this concert series possible. From every point of view this undertaking is of the greatest value to this university. Firstly, we will have an opportunity to hear some of the world's great music, interpreted by outstanding artists, right here on this campus. Secondly, we can now point with pride to McGill, knowing that we are no longer behind other Canadian universities in extra-curricular cultural achievements, but rather ahead of them.

In short, it is with the greatest pleasure and pride that we look forward to tonight, hoping that a record crowd of students will come to share in the great pleasure which we know will be ours. And again, let us express our sincere gratitude to all those students who have worked unceasingly to bring this great event to our doorstep. Cheers for Tonight!

CAMSI Briefs

(Ed. Note:—In view of the fact that a few days ago the McGill representative to the National Conference of Canadian Association of Medical Students and Interns was elected to the presidency of that body, we reprint the following editorial on CAMSI, from an earlier volume of The Daily.)

A striking example of careful and unified planning of national scope is provided by the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Interns. This association, numbering among its members the students of nine Canadian medical schools, has after a year's work produced a comprehensive brief on national health and its post-war revision by a national scheme.

This discussion of national health was carried through by a committee of representatives of the nine Canadian medical schools, plus three advisory members. It was undertaken, not merely as a venture by medical students in the medical field, but with a view to integrating the plan for a national health scheme with the Canadian Youth Commission's study of "the seven areas of employment, education, health, recreation, family life, citizenship, and religion."

The brief contains a list and a discussion of 13 main principles. The last of these states that "National Health insurance should be integrated with other social welfare measures. Community effort should have a place in the plan." Such an integrity and breadth of outlook is worthy of comment, in view of the number of people who seem to believe that the medical profession is rather narrow and jealous of its status. The doctors of tomorrow, with Canada as a whole in mind, have assumed a position of leadership which renders such derogatory opinion unjustified.

'The Fall of Berlin' Viewed by Parliament

"The Fall of Berlin," documentary film, which The Daily reviewed following a private screening recently, and which is starting a five-day run at His Majesty's Theatre at 1 p.m. today will be shown at a private screening to members of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, next Monday, The Daily learnt last night. "The Fall of Berlin" traces the progress of the Russian armies across Europe from their desperate stand at Stalingrad to the final capitulation of Germany.

'Dangerous Idea'

(This is a reprint of a pertinent article written by BRUCE HUTCHISON that appeared in the Vancouver Sun.)

One very dangerous and extraordinary idea is indeed growing up in British Columbia, and, if we are not careful, will grow up elsewhere.

At the moment the idea is confined largely to the Canadian Japanese. It is being widely assumed that the Canadian government has the power to say that they shall live east of the Rockies, that only so many shall live in one place, that none shall live on the coast of British Columbia.

There appears to be no present basis for such an assumption. If there is any peacetime law by which the government can tell any Canadian where to live, I have not heard of it. During the war and the enforcement of the War Measures Act, the government can do anything and did move the Japanese off the coast. These powers lapse with the end of the war emergency.

That is not to say that the power to move people about cannot be assumed by the government of Canada. Between the federal and provincial power, used in combination and conspiracy, government in Canada can do anything to any individual because we have no bill of rights like the Americans.

It is argued that the Japanese were moved into other provinces under agreements by which the Dominion is obligated to take them out again after the war. Any such agreement is at once immoral, illegal and intolerable. No provincial government has any right to say what people shall live within its boundaries. It is high time the Dominion made clear that it does not propose any provincial interference in what must always be, in all nations, one of the sole prerogatives of the national parliament.

But if there is no legal way by which people can be moved about in Canada, there certainly is no moral justification for trying to find it. For if we find such a method for the Japanese, we shall have established a precedent which can be applied to all other minorities. If Quebec, for example, can stop Japanese coming there—either through federal or provincial action, or both—it can stop British Columbians coming there and it can expel Jews. In the same way we can stop French Canadians coming here. No minority is safe, and this is a nation of minorities with no single race in the majority.

It is all very well to argue that this is purely hypothetical and not practical reasoning but in point of fact such precedents and hypotheses are the whole basis of our democratic system and free life. We let many murderers escape justice because we cannot prove they are guilty on the hypothesis that it is better for the guilty men to escape than one innocent man to hang. We refuse at all points in our laws to do any wrong thing, any illegal thing, however minor, lest it become the foundation for larger evils later on. I cannot see how individual freedom can last on any other proposition.

Few will argue that the Japanese should not be dispersed by agreement and persuasion, and no one in his senses, especially the Japanese, should favor concentrating them in one area. But this nation cannot afford for a moment to compel the dispersal by law or, surreptitiously, by the breach of law, and I do not believe the nation will try it. When we are signing international charters forbidding discrimination against racial minorities, when the Allies have specifically forbidden it in Germany and Japan, we cannot honestly practice it here.

British Columbia will be fooling itself if it imagines that Canada will practice it in the case of the Japanese.

Time and Tide

It's Here

With the arrival of Regina Resnik came the opening of what is hoped will become an institution... a series of concerts on the campus specifically for the benefit of the students. There has been a lot of work put into this. There always has to be more work than usual put into the first of anything... as in physics... inertia must be overcome. The speed is gathering, none too slowly now. Our first season has started and we wish the series "all the best." It deserves it.

STATEMENT

In view of the statement of President Sidney Smith of Toronto regarding vandalism in connection with intercollegiate athletics and in view of the motion passed unanimously by the Students' Executive Council, our official student representatives, I would caution all those spirited students intending to journey through Kingston and on to Toronto this weekend against any destructive practices which would make the Students' Society liable for damages.

In the past the students of McGill University have acquired a reputation for gentlemanly behavior. It would be a great pity if this reputation were spoiled through one disorderly weekend merely because the people of lesser wisdom are influenced by the antics of a small group of vandals. I hope to see the McGill visitors to Toronto spread good will and good cheer in a fashion truly representative of our way of campus life. I hope that students will take this opportunity to advance the relationship between Canada's two great universities. Let us all see that our name will continue to be respected and cheer our team into victory.

RICHARD J. BALFOUR,

no nation can be greater than the people who are her citizens. If Canada is to inherit rich destiny, health must be planned on a national scale."

REGINA RESNIK

by R. L.

A cheery, welcoming smile greeted me as I entered Regina Resnik's room to speak to her in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel last night. She is a charming, refreshing person who speaks easily and informally and is always willing to answer any questions put to her.

"The first thing that struck me

"I like Canada very, very much," Miss Resnik told me, "and not just because of steaks like the one I ate tonight. I think the Canadian people are wonderful; they are so refreshing. You know, it's funny about New York, you lead such a breath-takingly quick life there I find myself coming away on con-perform here tonight contains some works which have rarely or never been performed before. She explained this by telling me of her interest in this type of music. Music that people have heard over and over again not only is inclined to become hackneyed but it has a set standard in people's minds, she thinks. "Hence when you perform such music," she said, "you are immediately put up against this standard and it becomes something almost uncreative. For me this is not gratifying for the whole point of my work is the fact that it gives me a chance to create."

"Versatility is another important point," she went on. "It means a great deal when a singer can give a varied program without fluctuating the standard of musicianship of the performance."

To Regina Resnik this is not just another concert for it is only three years since she left college, and so she feels she has a lot in common with her audience. "I think it is wonderful that it is the students themselves that are responsible for this series of concerts and I feel that they are really interested in the program I am to give them," she said. "I hope I will be able to meet more of you and see more of your university."

Miss Resnik leaves Montreal to go straight to the opening rehearsals for the Met. She will be singing on the second night, Nov. 28, in Beethoven's Fidelio.

Incidentally Miss Resnik likes the McGill colours. She will be wearing a red dress for the concert.

certs such as these for a rest."

It was the tradition that struck the singer about McGill. "It's one thing I'm very fond of," she said. "The Metropolitan has a wonderful tradition behind it. It may look like an ancient and unglamorous place from the outside, but once you're in, you can never forget the atmosphere it creates."

LETTER FORUM

To the Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir—On behalf of the Queen's Football Team I wish to express appreciation for the reception and treatment accorded us by McGill students. We will not forget the time and consideration of your student-body representatives in guiding us from the station and acquainting us with your university. Naturally we were more interested in playing the game. At the outset the appearance of your Team Captain, John Hall, and Team Manager, Peter Turcott, at the Queen's Hotel Friday evening was a fine gesture. We appreciated their consideration and thoughtfulness very much. The conditions for the game were not the best and in the end turned out to be to Queen's advantage. However we haven't played against a finer group of sportsmen. In every way you were an example of "how to play the game." We regret the curtailed schedule prevents us from extending the same courtesy and hospitality to your students and players.

Thank you sincerely. Win, lose or draw, it was a pleasure to visit your University even under rather dampening conditions.

Yours sincerely,
JACK MILLIKEN,
Captain, Queen's Football Team.

FOOD FOR EUROPE

Dear Sir—Not very long ago, you gave a good deal of publicity to the resolution of censure passed by McGill students on the present government of Argentina. I gathered from your editorials on the subject that you are rather worried about the condition of peoples in various parts of the world, and I would respectfully draw your attention to the plight of the peoples of Europe in the matter of food. You have consistently stated that university students should lead in showing constructive interest in matters such as these, and I feel that somebody in the University fell down badly in promoting the collection of clothes for Europe. There is a new movement now starting in Montreal, which aims at helping people in Europe, particularly children, to avoid mass starvation, and I suggest that you bring this to the attention of the students of this University. I refer to the movement called "Save Europe Now."

The movement began spontaneously in Britain, when a number of sensitive and intelligent people became disgusted. They feel that it is at best folly, and at the worst criminal, to let young people in Europe starve when we have enough food to spare elsewhere. These people wrote to their newspapers, offering to give up half of their already meagre rations, if the British Government would organize the giving of that half to the needy peoples of Europe. The cause has been taken up by a few papers in Britain, notably the New Statesman and Nation (see Critic in the issue of 6 Oct. '45). We have now had two letters on the subject in the Montreal Gazette within the last two weeks, proposing the same plan in this country.

Here is an excellent chance for the McGill Daily to crusade in a

Para los Hombres que se Afeitan Diariamente

PREPARACIÓN ESPECIAL QUE SUAVIZA LA PIEL Y ECONOMIZA TIEMPO

PARA los hombres que necesariamente tienen que afeitarse todos los días, la Crema Glider resulta inestimable: es suave... no irrita... no es grasienta ni aceitosa.

Para usar la Crema Glider, primero debe lavarse bien la cara con agua caliente y jabón. En seguida, espárrase rápidamente la Crema Glider usando la punta de los dedos—jamás con Brocha.

Hace tersa la piel

Al instante, la Crema Glider suaviza la piel—da instantánea tersura a las escamosidades superficiales de la piel. Permite que el filo de la hoja corte la barba a ras de la piel, sin irritarla. Ayuda a eliminar esa molestia que sienten los hombres de piel muy fina al afeitarse diariamente, les deja el cutis más suave y más limpio.

Western and Queens In Championship Battle

Kingston Scene of Big Game; Gaels Must Win For Share of Honours

Need Victory to Tie Londoners For First Post-war Grid Title

Faced with the possible loss of their captain and star kicking half, Jack Milliken, the Gaels from Queens will take on the powerful Western Mustangs tomorrow afternoon in the game that will decide the Intercollegiate Football Championship. The battle will be in Kingston, which will be a point in favor of the Tricolor, but thus far over the route, the big Purple team has been all powerful.

One the other side of the ledger, the Hosts have tasted defeat once, bowing to Varsity after beating them at home due to some sensational open field running by Jack Parry and then trouncing McGill in a sea of mud here last weekend. So it is a must on Bob Elliot's agenda that his charges beat the Mustangs to tie for the honors.

Western On The Record
But on the record it looks like the boys from London will take the first postwar title. They have been just too good for every college team they have met and at full strength they will be very hard to beat. No matter what the outcome, they are assured of at least a tie, since there are no play-offs this year.

When Western played here they showed a very hard driving speed that was thoroughly trained in fundamentals and they threw in some of the most dazzling hip-dipper stuff exhibited at Molson Stadium in a long time. Also, at that time, their Captain and pre-war running half, Harry Szumilinski, was out, but it didn't seem to make much difference.

Gaels Speedy
However, the Galloping Gaels showed a lot of speed and razzle-dazzle even in the mud here and on their own grounds will likely take a lot of beating. Especially if Milliken is in there which, at this writing is not definite. He is a fine kicker and a lot better than average broken field runner and it may be that his absence or presence will make the difference when the final gun is fired.

Any way one looks at it there is bound to be a whale of a football game along the shores of old Lake Ontario with two exceptionally strong teams putting on the show. All through the season, the brand of play has been better than has been expected and an upset by Queen's wouldn't be too much of an upset at that.

First Year Arts, Grads Victorious

Winners by Default; Tuesday's Games Will Decide Section Champs

Both the Grads and Arts and Science 1 Softball teams won last night via the default route. Commerce 3 and 4 failed to show up against the Grads, while Arts and Science 1 waited in vain for the third year Medics to put in an appearance.

However, these two teams will have their chance to play on Tuesday when the Arts and Science-men take on Engineering 3 at 5 o'clock to decide the winners of Section "C", both teams having won 2 and lost none. Then on Thursday the winner of this battle takes on Arts, and Science 2 at 5 o'clock in the first semi-final game of the play-offs.

The Grads team will swing into action at 6 o'clock Tuesday night against the Phys. Ed. team to decide the winners of Section "D" and the right to advance to the finals against the undefeated Arts and Science 3 team. This other semi-final game will be held at 6 o'clock Thursday evening.

Should the Grads get by the muscle men of the Phys. Ed. school, a very interesting game should be coming up on Thursday. Both Arts and Science 3 and Grads have had their Murderers Row pounding the pill in every game thus far and neither team has yet to taste the bitter salts of defeat.

FOOTBALL TICKET MEN
Students who worked on ticket staff during football season will please collect their pay at the Athletics Office: Nov. 9—between 2-4.30. Nov. 10—between 11-12.30.

McGill Basketball Squads Prep for Heavy Schedule

Coaches Pare Down Both Teams: First Game November 20

In their own quiet way, the two McGill basketball coaches Lou Davies and Ronnie Rutherford are whipping their squads into shape in preparation for what promises to be one of the most successful seasons in many a year. With the first City League game only eleven days off, the Senior squad is down to about fifteen men with another four or five to be taken down to the Intermediates.

As in many other sports, this year will see the resumption of intercollegiate basketball, and in addition to the regular schedule, there will be a few games with American college teams here and one trip to the States to play about three teams while on the one tour. At this writing though none of this is too definite except the Clarkson game on December 8 and the match against Middlebury on January 26, both in the Currie Gym.

The Intermediate team will also have their own intercollegiate schedule against Dawson, U. of M. Continued on Page Four Tomorrow afternoon will witness the first running of the Dunlop Road Race since 1943. A number of McGill teams will be entered in this five-mile jaunt, with high hopes of capturing first place honors and the corresponding Standard Trophy which goes to the victors.

Stiff competition is expected to be met for the honor of winning this trophy donated by the Montreal Standard. The boys from out St. Johns way have enlisted a number of highly touted tracksters to run Dawson College to fame, while MacDonald College speedsters are expected to show up as well. Dawson to Form Intermediate "B" Basketball Squad

"Tig" Chaloner Coach Of Newly Organized Squad in New League

By BERNARD COOPER.
The organization of a "B" Intermediate team was announced yesterday by Em Orlick's athletics office to add another representative team to the already formidable list of Dawson entries. Practices for this squad will begin next Thursday at 4.00 p.m., when "Tig" Chaloner the man who will coach it, will look over his new charges for the first time.

The main purpose of this squad will be to provide a reservoir for the "A" team. There are a large number of prospective basketballers on the football team, and this second team will afford them a chance of playing. About 60 cage prospects turned out to the first practice of the "A" team last month, and a fairly good secondary squad should be turned out by this "college nestling on the banks of the Richelieu."

"There will be little difficulty organizing a league," stated Em Orlick, "since a number of other colleges have the same idea as we have and are willing to field teams in a secondary Intermediate league."

Coach "Tig" Chaloner has had a good deal of experience in the manly sport of tossing the ball through the hoop. He was a player at West Hill and at the N.D.G. "Y". He was also a coach at the "Y" for some time. After a spell in the R.C.A.F., he is returning to

by J. T. Piper

The Redmen are travelling up to Toronto today for their last game of an exceptionally short season. With three defeats to their record so far they have high hopes of finally pulling off a victory from Varsity tomorrow afternoon. Unfortunately the McGill team is riddled with injuries and they have had to draw from the two Q.R.F.U. teams for support. Doug Heron, Brian Little and Quarterback Bill Stronach, all first string men, are not to play in the Varsity game, and it is doubtful whether Dave (the Tank) Townshend will be able to dress either.

Without these four players the Redmen are decidedly going to be hampered, but they have excellent men to fill their positions. Ian Barclay and Doug Bullock have done an excellent job filling in for Heron and Little in the middle slot, and it has been announced that Whizzer Smith and Dave Greenberg are to take over in Stronach's position. Smith, who spent ten months of his service time in a German prison camp, has been carefully groomed for the quarterback position by Coach Kerr, while Greenberg formerly played in that spot a few years back with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Ye Olde Faithfuls

The Redmen still have some of their old faithfuls playing in their right positions, however; Dick Pennyfather and Joe Huza, two insides with sixty minutes of fight in them for every game, will be in there, as will Allan Mann, Dynamite Gus Summerskill, Jo-Jo Smythe, Murray Hayes, Johnny Porter, Bob Bartlett, Fraser Farlinger and John Hewgill. Of these by far the most outstanding have been Summerskill and Bartlett, although the rest have turned in fine performances in the past and are likely to show a clean pair of heels to any team in the intercollegiate loop.

To-morrow's QRFU Fixture Is Cancelled

It has been announced by the officials of the QRFU that the game between the Verdun Grads and the McGill Tigers scheduled for tomorrow afternoon has been called off indefinitely. The Tigers have been undefeated this year and stand as undisputed QRFU champions, while the Grads have been beaten in every game they have played, dropping one game to these same Tigers and two to the hard-hitting Wildcats.

This postponement will give the members of the McGill team a chance to travel to Toronto to watch the intercollegiate game

CHORAL SOCIETY

The sixth meeting of the Choral Society will take place tonight at 5 p.m. in Room 12, in R.V.C.

Rehearsals, which are held twice weekly, on Monday and Friday, are scheduled to begin at 5.05 p.m. and will end at 6.15 p.m.

Today is the deadline for students wishing to join the Society and take part in the Christmas concert. Anyone desiring to become a member today will be welcomed. The deadline for participation in the Christmas concert is necessary because our rehearsal time is limited and there is much to learn—in fact at least one new piece is learned at each rehearsal.

Members are requested to be prompt in their arrival, and to sign the attendance sheets posted on the wall. Promptness is in order on account of the short practice periods. So, come one, come all, and on time, please!

S.C.M.

Rev. Gerald Hutchinson, General Secretary of the S.C.M. of Canada, who is returning from a tour of the Maritime Universities, will be a visitor to the McGill Campus from November 11 to 19 inclusive. Mr. Hutchinson will be at S.C.M. House to talk with students during the week. On Sunday, November 11, he will speak at a student service to be held in Divinity Hall, 3520 University St., at 7.30 p.m.

Following the service, there will be an S.C.M. Open House at 3574 University St., featuring singing, and a talk by Gerry Hutchinson on "Students Across Canada." Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening. All McGill students are welcome at both the service and the Open House.

Mr. Hutchinson will speak again at an Open House to be held in the S.C.M. House on Saturday, Nov. 17 at 8.00 p.m. Miss Harriet Christie who has just returned from Great Britain will also speak. This discussion will be followed by a social evening.

HISTORICAL CLUB

The second meeting of the Historical Club will take place next Thursday, Nov. 15, at 8 p.m., at the home of R. G. Barry, 2168 Sherbrooke street west, Apt. 4, Haddon Hall Apts. The speaker will be Leon Davichio and the topic: "Yugoslavia—a New Democracy." He will discuss the present political situation in Yugoslavia and in other countries of the Balkans. As the elections in that country will be held on Sunday, he will be able to discuss the results and the possible consequences they might have on the future relations with foreign powers.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

The fourth weekly meeting of the Electrical Engineering Club will take place on Saturday, Nov. 10, at noon in Room 35 of the Engineering Building.

As usual, there will be a short talk by a member of the club. This week's talk will be given by Leo Loebenberg of Fourth Year Electrical Engineering, and the topic will be "The Testing of Power Cables." All members are urged to attend if at all possible.

MCGILL RADIO WORKSHOP

"Mateo Falcone" the play under production, will be recorded Saturday Nov. 10 at Walter Downs' studio. However, since studio time is limited, there will be a preliminary rehearsal at 2 p.m. SHARP in the Union Music Room. Will the following people please attend: Shirley Elkin, Jean Gregg, John Riddell, Douglas Riddell, Edgar Wener, John Drechsler, Jack Busby and Len Parke.

MCGILL ROWING CLUB

Due to unforeseen circumstances, the first meeting of the McGill Rowing Club has been postponed till Thursday, Nov. 15th., from 5.00 to 6.00 p.m. Place: the Music Room of the Union. Col. R. D. Huestis, former well-known oarsman, will speak on intercollegiate rowing. All former oarsmen, and all those who are interested in learning to row are urged to turn out, since a large enrolment is important. Any who are unable to attend this first meeting are asked to get in touch with Doug Huestis at L.A. 5265.

INTER VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

On Saturday evening, Nov. 10, the I. V. C. F. will hold a musical evening at eight o'clock in Student House, 3445 Peel St., which will feature folk songs of many lands. There will be community singing as well as individual numbers. Refreshments will be served.

THE NEWMAN CLUB

Because of mid-term examinations, the Study Clubs will begin on Sunday evening, November 18,

Instead of on November 11, as was previously announced.

THE PRE-MED. SOCIETY

All those members of the society that were kind enough to signify their wish to assist in the decoration of the Union Ball Room for the dance of the 9th are requested to be at the Union Ball Room tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock to start the decorating of the Ball Room.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

Clive Gonsalves, Med. 2, was elected President of the Cosmopolitan Club by acclamation at the general meeting of the Club in the Reading Room of the Union last night. Also elected were Wylie Norman, assistant secretary, Peter Hall, publicity manager and Nancy Hood, assistant publicity manager.

In addition to these elections, Bunny Connor and Jean Roston were appointed contact men, and Louis Cornilliac was appointed as chairman of the open house committee.

Events decided upon for the coming year included the Christmas Party, a St. Valentine's Day dance, a Mardi Gras Carnival, two supper meetings with speakers, a series of informal joint student staff open houses in the Union, a sleigh ride, or an outing on the Park Slide, and a series of business meetings with speakers, movies or other attractions.

A club bowling league was also constituted, and plans were approved for a stamp collectors group within the framework of the club if the interest shown warranted it. Plans were also approved to maintain contact with the International Students Club at Varsity, and further reports in connection with this were promised for future business meetings.

S. D. L. E. E. E.

The "Society for the determination of the logical element in all emotional experiences" is interested in increasing its membership. It should be emphasized that the qualifications for joining this society are exceptionally high and only those with a complete mastery of the literature of the subject shall be considered for membership. Students who feel they may have these qualifications are asked to leave their names at the Tuck Shop with a list of their qualifications, addressed to S.D.L.E.E.E.

DAWSON INVITATION

By "Scoop Neale"!

Dawson's Co-Wed Club has invited the residents of buildings 27 and 28 to their Co-Weds Corner for a social evening on Sunday, stated president Pauline Evers today. This kind invitation will prove a boon to the students who stay out in St. John's over the week-end, for the facilities of the club, which includes billiard tables and a phonograph, will be at their disposal. The club intends to make this a weekly event which will certainly be appreciated by the students concerned.

really worthwhile cause, and one that has some chance of success either directly or indirectly. There must be dozens of students in this University who feel strongly about these matters, and a small shove and some intelligent leadership on your part should crystallize this feeling. I know that the people who are organizing the movement in Montreal would welcome the collaboration of the student body; one of the moving spirits is the wife of a prominent member of the Faculty. I should think that the veterans, who have seen the conditions over there in Europe, would welcome the chance to help. Needless to say, I am willing to head the list.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,
J. S. OSBORNE.

mittee in charge has arranged that a reception will be held after the concert in the common room at R.V.C. Dr. M. Roscoe is to be the hostess on this occasion, and undergraduates, graduates and governors will have an opportunity to meet both artist and each other. Refreshments will be supplied by the concert committee.

In addition to tonight's concert, four others have been planned. Isaac Stern, violinist, will play on the evening of December 3rd, the McGill String Quartet's performance will be given on the 11th of January, while Ellen Ballon is to be heard on the 22nd of February.

cats or the Tigers, so that "Pop" Kerr will have an opportunity of seeing the Dawsonites in action. Doug has expressed a desire to see the St. John's gridders perform but so far the duties of the coach of the McGill squad have kept him from scouting. This game would enable Kerr to see if there are any prospective McGill senior gridders playing under the Dawson banners.

STANDARD—p. 3

This race is being doubled with the Provincial Race and the McGill Inter-Faculty Race. The first three men who are able to cross the finish line, five miles past the North Branch Y.M.C.A., along the Dunlop route, will be on the receiving end of a like number of medals. Teams of three men each will be struggling down the course for the honor of their respective faculties.

Amid all this conglomeration starting their paces at 3 o'clock you might be able to notice a few familiar McGill tracksters like Andy Gillespie, who took over second place two years ago, as well as Ballon, McKenzie and Coady.

MCGILL—p. 3

Sir George Williams and McDonald, the latter incidentally entering a team in the Senior City League as well. This squad will be about ten to fifteen men strong throughout the whole year and with these schedules standing as they are now, there will be plenty of basketball for all the faithful to enjoy in the next few months.

However, this return to the Inter-collegiate wars doesn't mean the end of Intra-mural basketball activities. The opposite is the goal and with the increased enrollment it is hoped that the Class league will be bigger and better than ever before. And in the interests of this there politics. "Absolute monarchy is an irresponsible form of authority, therefore the less the people see, the better." Then at college, the students began to echo the sentiment of "government of the people, by the people, for the people." This is clearly a great change in attitude.

At first only a very small section of educated China was affected by this new attitude; gradually it spread among the young people, who now have a new attitude and understanding of what their country means to them. They love her and will keep her free at any price. Due to their new political outlook they were able to keep their spirit intact throughout nine years of war with the Japanese, although so poorly equipped. "The will to resist in China never wavered for a moment."

On January 1, 1912, the monarchy having been overthrown, China was declared a republic. Then followed the "War Lord Period," a period of conflict for power between the young leaders of the republic and the old leaders of the monarchy. However, the time element was on the side of the revolutionaries, and in 1927, Generalissimo Chiang created the first real central government in Nanking. Once strongly established, the process of giving the people a democratic basis of government was started. But China is not yet a democracy, for due to repeated interruptions, a vote has never been held on the constitution.

"The war with Japan has cost me the privilege of casting my first ballot in China, and has delayed the political evolution of China almost ten years." But the threads will be picked up, and the people will continue.

Dr. Koo ended his speech by challenging the youth of today to retain the international outlook of the United Nations Conference. "Whether you succeed or fail to do that, that will be the verdict of our generation."

the power of the war lords until it formed a central government under Chiang Kai-shek in 1927. He went on to say that a committee to draw up a democratic constitution had been formed in 1933 and a draft was submitted and accepted in 1936 to go into effect the next year. War with Japan has constantly postponed its application, but Dr. Koo, who has never voted yet, said he hoped to cast his first ballot next year, when he believes the constitution will be in effect.

Dr. Koo believes that the present political strife in China is over-emphasized in our newspapers for, he states, the five parties in China represent only one per cent. of the population. He was quite impartial on this subject although he mentioned that the Nationalist Party, while springing from the people, has gradually drifted away from them and is now in the hands of the monied classes.

With Dr. Koo on the platform were: Professor W. L. G. Williams and W. Smythe and J. Harris of the Students Council. He was introduced by Prof. Williams. Harris, opening the meeting, said that the lecture was the first of a series to be sponsored by the Students Council.

He closed with a plea for contributions to the fund of the International Students Service, which carries on student relief in stricken countries.

ries on student relief in stricken countries.

"Today we, the United Nations have the world at our feet," he said. "Do we know the things that belong to our peace?"

Dr. Koo was thanked by Ward Smythe, president B.Sc. 1.
